

Local Excellence excels

Local Excellence excels: content added 31 March 2012: The Local Excellence market that seems to go from strength to strength had another hugely successful day today with crowds thronging the passages between the stalls and more stallholders than ever before. Well-loved Abingdon retailers, Patisserie Pascal and Fabulous Flowers, joined in the market for the first time along with Added Ingredients and Beyond Bubbles who are market regulars. With a live Peruvian pipe band and the cockpit of a fighter jet to "play" with the market was entertaining and colourful as always.

Any stalls or products that you saw and wish to know more about? Just email us at heather.brown@chooseabingdon.co.uk and we can pass on the details of any of our stallholders including craftsmen and women like our blacksmith from White Lion Forge and our stained glass makers from Designs in Glass, not to mention brand new textiles business, Not Too Shabby.

After reorganisation of the available space under our new market manager, we are able to fit in another eight stalls and would be interested to hear from local companies who would like to try trading with us. Contact us on the above email address or 07768 177577 to tell us about what you do - we are always keen to help new companies start up but please note you will need public liability insurance. (We can give you advice on where to get this.)
