

Owls in town this Saturday

Owls in town this Saturday: This Saturday the Local Excellence market will feature an owl display as well as a live folk band. It's definitely the market that never stands still. The owls are suitable for you to hold because they were previously in captivity before being rescued by the sanctuary so their behaviour as wild birds is already compromised. They are breathtaking close up with the most hypnotic eyes you will ever gaze into. Come down and see them at the Local Excellence Market on Saturday 29th September in the Market Place. 9am to 2pm.

First published on www.chooseabingdon.com on 25th September 2012

